

Our Members Say the Nicest Things...

"Any community association which truly wishes to serve the best interests of its members, should surely affiliate with CAI. No other forum exists for residents of planned communities to become informed about issues impacting their way of life and provide an avenue to influence positive outcomes."

-Paul H. Cunningham, Trustee, Village Grande at Millers Run

"The best decision ever made by our Association was to join CAI. We were amazed at the level of education and support offered and the willingness to work with you on any issue that you may be encountering. We now feel more confident in our day-to-day responsibilities and know that if we are in need of help, CAI has our backs when we call on them for assistance."

-Louise Reeves, President, Robinwood Village

"When we have a problem, need a contractor, or have a question with or about our community, we go to one source: CAI. The best thing we have done for our community was to join CAI."

-John Shaw, Vice-President, Marsh Harbour Community Association

"My membership in CAI has benefitted me both personally and professionally. Personally, I have learned the many facets of the association management industry and professionally, I have benefited from earning professional designations and networking with other CAI members to further my career. CAI allows its members to take part in molding and shaping our industry and the communities that we serve for a better tomorrow."

-Kevin Brown, CMCA, AMS, PCAM, CAMCO Management Company

"I have been involved with CAI since 1997 and have felt the experience of meeting colleagues in community management, vendors, and community professionals has been the most rewarding professional relationship building I have had in my career. Our clients are educated on the value of having managers with CAI designations. CAI has been a wonderful experience!"

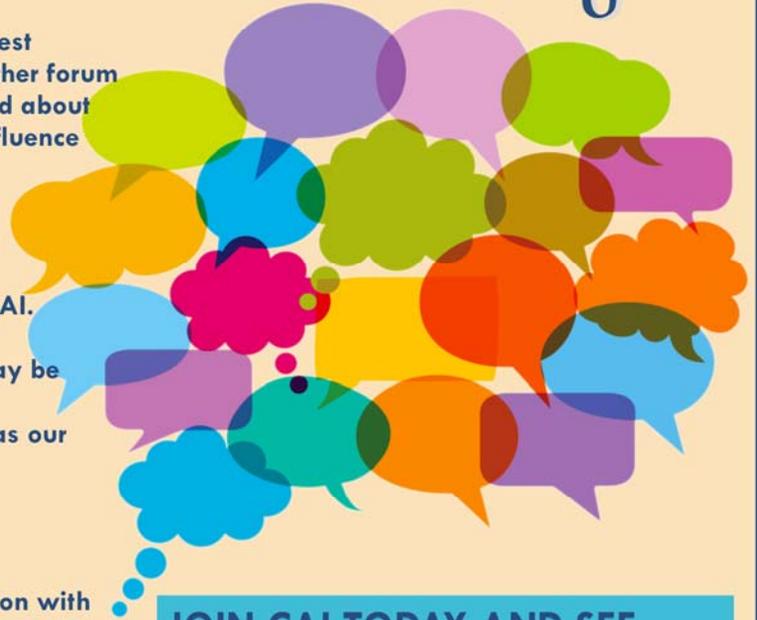

-Carol Richard, CMCA, AMS, PCAM, Mid-Atlantic Management Corp., AAMC

"CAI is an organization that furthers professional development and is an excellent venue for networking. It is perfect for companies that provide services applicable to managed communities. This segment of our business has significantly grown since we have become an active member within CAI."

-Martin Bahner, CertaPro Painters

"The biggest opportunity offered to members of CAI is gaining the shared experience and expertise of the fellow members in our specialized industry. Members want to know that they have resources that can guide them through the many situations and decisions that they will face and CAI offers those resources."

-Stephen A. Smith, Jr., CIC, CIRMS, Smith Insurance

JOIN CAI TODAY AND SEE WHAT YOU HAVE TO SAY

Hundreds of homeowners, community associations, and businesses have discovered that CAI is an invaluable resource.

CAI provides up-to-date resources and expertise needed to effectively run community associations.

CAI advances excellence through seminars, workshops, conferences and educational programs that are targeted to homeowners and professional managers.

CAI also publishes the largest collection of resources available on community associations.

In addition, CAI advocates community association interests before the state legislature.

For more information, contact Anne at anne@cai-padelval.org or call her at 610.783.1315.

PENNSYLVANIA AND DELAWARE VALLEY CHAPTER

community
ASSOCIATIONS INSTITUTE